[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]
CHICAGO, July 9.—Definite results are expected at the Democratic national convention today. The platform will in all probability be adopted and the candidates nominated unless a deadlock is developed.

Lowering clouds hung over the city indicating a break in the perfect weather enjoyed so far. Again the crowds were moving towards convention hall at an early hour as the time for opening the session was ten o'clock. There was no abatement of the rush and excitement but the great throng was handled easily and moved through the doorway with little confusion.

On the program for today the platform was first in order and a great battle of oratory was expected with the critical appearance of Hill, Tillman, Jones, Vilas and Gray. The outlook early this morning was that the day would be occupied with the platform and speeches until perhaps the latter part of the afternoon when a recess would be taken until evening, when nominating speeches would be made and the balloting begun.

The interest of the day centered in the action of the gold forces after the adoption of the platform. Up to this morning nothing definite had been agreed upon but individual New York and other eastern delegates freely expressed their intention of having the convention when the silver platform is adopted, or of announcing their purpose not to support the candidates.

The nomination of candidates was looked forward to as the great opportunity for orators and much was expected of men like Vest, Turpie and White who present the names of Bland, Matthews and Boies respectively.

As much uncertainty was felt among the candidates on the eve of balloting as before the convention opened. It was a significant fact that no figures or estimates of strength were given by the leaders, and it showed the large element of doubt existing. Although Bland maintained his lead the managers of other candidates declared positively that Bland was far from commanding a majority and very far from having two-thirds.

A new phrase of the two-thirds question arose from the possible course of the gold element in refraining from voting. In such an event parliamentarians differed as to whether the nomination must be by a vote of two-thirds of the delegates present or two-thirds of those voting. Another element of doubt which perplexed the managers was, as to the delivery of a block of gold votes of two or three hundred. If given to one silver candidate it would give the gold men the advantage of dictating the nomination.

It was rumored this morning about the opening hour of the convention that Whitney said all the gold candidates for President had withdrawn except Pattison of Pennsylvania and that Bland who is considered the weakest of the silver candidates would be pressed for the nomination.

The convention was called to order at 10.33. Senator Hill arrived a few minutes before and joined in close consultation with Judge Grady and other members of the New York delegation. Not a member of the Pennsylvania delegation was present at five minutes before the gavel fell but about half of them were on hand when Chairman White called for order. Chairman White was so hoarse that he was unable to speak above a whisper. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Green of Iowa. As the prayer was finished Chairman White handed the gavel over to Congressman Richardson of Tennessee who announced that the resolutions committee was ready to report. He called Senator Jones of Arkansas to the platform. Jones adjusted his glasses and began to read. It was understood that an hour and twenty minutes would be given each side for debate.

ANCIENT AND HONORABLES

RECEIVE AN OVATION AND THE HIGHEST POSSIBLE HONOR FROM THEIR BRITISH
COUSINS. A GREAT DAY ON LAF-
FAN'S PLAIN.

[Special Dispatch to the Transcript.]
LONDON, July 9.—The scenes of yesterday were repeated in the court yard of Hotel Cecil this morning. Large crowds had assembled as early as 7 o'clock. Much enthusiasm was manifested. A detachment of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company marched to Waterloo railroad station in the same manner as yesterday, headed by the bands of the Honorable Artillery company and of the Salem Cadets.

There was loud cheering for the Americans all along the route. The visitors were received at the railroad station by Lord Wolseley commander-in-chief of the forces, Sir Evelyn Wood, quartermaster-general of the army, and other officers of high rank, all in full uniform. United States Ambassador Bayard, Secretary Carter, and other officers of the United States embassy accompanied the Massachusetts men on the train to Aldershot.

The Ancients arrived at Aldershot at 10 o'clock and were met on the platform by the Duke of Connaught, commander of the military district, Sir Redvers Buller and headquarters staff, the latter on horseback. After welcoming Col. Walker and his command the Duke and other officers inspected the visiting company. They were then conveyed to Laffan's Plain in forty war department wagons where the grand military parade was witnessed and participated in, over 20,000 troops being in line. At the saluting point the stars and stripes were floating near the royal standard. Lord Wolseley introduced Colonel Walker to the Duchess and Princess and then Ambassador Bayard and the Colonel stood by the royal carriage. Lord Wolseley asked Colonel Walker to share the salute with him which he did. This is regarded as a great and unusual honor.

When Hill began speaking he said if he should follow South Carolina he would say he was a Democrat but he was not a mugwump. The mission of Democracy he said should be to unite not to divide. When he asked if he need defend New York and her citizens a perfect volley of shouts followed. New York is Gibraltar of Democracy he declared.

Then he commenced a denunciation of free coinage that will not soon be forgotten. "Why," said he, "We might as well do away with international and commercial treaties as to attempt to act alone on such an important matter."

He referred to the ratio 16 to 1 saying many thought another ratio proper. He regretted that the platform had not a word in favor of bimetalism and declared that in view of the great production of silver at small expense it might as well say copper is equal to gold.

He pointed out the danger to business and the Democratic party if the platform should be endorsed on the financial question. He denounced the plank favoring an income tax as unwise and also said it was unwise to assail the country's supreme court. He declared he would not follow such revolutionary steps.

Hill spoke earnestly and fluently and was frequently interrupted by applause. He concluded amid a tumult of cheers and yells, in which the Tammany tiger did its part, and immediately was surrounded by a crowd of delegates congratulating him.

Ex-Governor Russell of Massachusetts made a short but very impressive speech in behalf of the minority report. He said he knew that an appeal to the convention would fall dead and yet that it would listen to a protest. "I have heard," he said, "one false note from Massachusetts during the convention with more of sorrow than of anger, that this new departure is the dawn of a better day. I wish to God I could believe it."

The platform as read by Jones contained an anti A. P. A. plank for which a fight was made before the committee, and which was finally unanimously adopted. The probabilities are that about 5 o'clock the convention will take a recess until evening when the nominating speeches will be made and the balloting may begin.

GEO. FRED WILLIAMS

He Feels Abused and Threatens to Start a New Machine.

SICK OF THE OLD PARTY.

Will Call on the Workmen of Massachusetts to Stand by Him. It Now
Ranks Republican, Mugwump,
Democrat, Silver-Williams.

A letter from James B. Cadogan of Adams, alternate delegate to the Democratic national convention at Chicago, shows the manner in which things are going in that city. He states that George Fred Williams considers himself much abused and will start a machine of his own instead of sticking by the old party machine of this state, and will call upon the workmen to stand by him.

Mr. Cadogan tells of a drive he had about the city with Delegate Lewis of Framingham, ex-Gov. William E. Russell and ex-Judge Corcoran. Mr. Lewis is a rabid silver man, and Mr. Cadogan's description of what occurred when he and the other members of the party discussed the money question is very entertaining.

GELINAS' CASE.

United States Authorities Will Take the Case. A More Serious Charge.

Alfred Gelinas, the post office clerk who confessed to the larceny of stamps to the amount of several hundred dollars, was in court this morning and his case was continued until 5 o'clock today, at which time a government officer will be present. Gelinas will be charged with embezzlement of post office funds and will probably be tried in a United States court in October.

Gelinas sat in the prisoner's dock along side the other offenders and was closely watched by Officer Hill. His face showed signs of his depression and he did not raise his eyes from the floor but three or four times during the session.

The extreme penalty for the crime Gelinas has confessed is five years imprisonment at hard labor or a fine of $5000 or both. Inspector Snow of Boston, who heard Gelinas' confession at the police station says the case of Gelinas will be considered a serious one as the method he employed, the amount he has taken and the fact that he began stealing again just as soon as he returned from his vacation shows that no end of the embezzling was in sight. He says the method Gelinas employed, that of stealing and at the same time keeping his account straight has been used by old thieves but it is seldom that a man so young as Gelinas is versed in improved ways.

THE WHALEN MURDER.

The Murdered Man's Money Found Wednesday in a Wall.

A very important circumstance in connection with the Coy-Whalen murder case, which created such a sensation in October, 1891, came to light Wednesday. The house where William Coy murdered John Whalen on Washington mountain was afterward leased by an old German and in relaying the stone-work of the crude hatchway Wednesday he found a roll of money amounting to $500. Murder will out, and this is the missing link which bothered both the prosecution and defense of Coy, and which had it been known at the time, would possibly have sent an accessory with Coy to the gallows.

A Caution.

Several residents of Church street appear to have been cheated during the past week by a peddler. A young agent has been in the city selling asbestos coverings for dining room tables to prevent the heat of the dishes from harming the varnish, also kettles for cooking, with an asbestos lining to prevent food from burning. Several of these goods were bought and paid for, by ladies on Church street with the assurance, that they would be expressed to them by Monday sure, and they are still waiting for them. This was told a TRANSCRIPT reporter this morning for publication as a caution to others.

Circus Pay Day.

The circus employees were paid off Wednesday and it made a busy afternoon for C. A. Larabee and John Duggan at the post office. A large number of the circus people sent money out of town by post office money orders. Over $1500 was deposited in the office and the amount was made up of bills, none over $2 in denomination, silver dollars and small change in quantities. Mr. Larabee says he has experienced similar pay days but on no occasion has so large a sum of money been sent away by individuals.

Outing at Cole's Grove.

The L. C. B. has engaged Cole's grove for Friday evening and will have a pleasant outing. Dancing will be enjoyed, there will be singing by a quartet and refreshments will be served by the ladies of the society. Invitations have been extended to the Knights of Columbus and the C. B. L., with the personal friends of the members, and it is expected there will be about 150 in the company. Special cars will bring the party home.

The Road Race.

The prizes for the Association Wheelmen road race to be held Tuesday next will be jewelry. Secretary Lovejoy and R. M. Dowlin will arrange the starters, and as the distance is but two miles and one-half, forty-five seconds will be the largest handicap. All entries must be made with the secretary before Monday evening.

Maurice Phillips has returned from a week's visit in Boston.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Fell on the Railroad Track and
Was Decapitated This Morning.

SHOCKING SIGHT AT THE DEPOT.

A Monroe Bridge Italian's Terrible Fate.
Came Here to Attend the Circus.
Was on His Way Home. How the Accident Occurred.

A frightful accident occurred at the Fitchburg depot this morning, by which the victim was instantly killed and his body decapitated and mangled to a jelly. The man was Graconio Marzadri, twenty-six years old, of Monroe Bridge.

With three companions the man had attended the circus Wednesday evening and was waiting at the depot for the 11.39 train to return home. The three men stood about the platform, joking and talking over their day's outing with pleasure.

Marzadri for some reason left the others and started to cross the tracks just in front of the depot. A yell was heard and the companions turned just in time to see their fellow being mangled and crushed to pieces by a switch engine. His head, torn from his body, bumped along the track for fully twenty-five feet. The body was caught in a frog and was fearfully mangled. Medical Examiner Brown was called and viewed the remains.

Undertaker Cody took the remains in charge and prepared it for removal to Monroe Bridge, where the funeral will be held.

Marzadri was known to be subject to fits, and it is surmised that he was taken ill when on the track in front of the moving engine. He was born in Austria and had lived in this country about a year. He had worked in the rag shop at the Ramage paper mill in Monroe Bridge for two months past. He was unmarried but leaves a brother in Monroe Bridge.

ON GREYLOCK'S SUMMIT.

The Mountain Invaded by Pleasure Parties Today.

Two large parties of people seeking pleasure for the day visited Greylock's lofty summit today. The day was delightfully passed and the grand, never changing view was as much enjoyed as when first seen.

The two parties went up entirely separate of each other and the meeting on the summit was a surprise to both. The parties were made up as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cutting and family. Mr. Bates, their guest, Mrs. E. B. Cody and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilmarth of Stamford, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mills of Pittsfield their two daughters and their guest, Miss Goodlow, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rice and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hunter, Miss Belle Drake and Miss Annie Reed.

The second party was composed of Miss Elizabeth Arnold, her guest, Miss Mary Lindsey of Orange, N. J., Miss Jean Harvie, Miss Pauline Russell, N. Henry Arnold, J. Andrew Claghorn, O. W. Sheard of New York and Frank Arnold.

B. Y. P. U. CONVENTION.

A Delightful Trip to Milwaukee on the Massachusetts Train.

The annual convention of the Baptist Young People's union will be held this year at Milwaukee, Wis., as has heretofore been announced, and it is expected to make it the largest and most interesting gathering of Baptist young people ever held in America.

The convention will open July 15 and will be continued until the 20th. The committee in charge of the Massachusetts trains has made excellent arrangements for the convenience of any who may go. The expense of the trip including railroad fare each way, meals, care of baggage, room and board at a fine hotel and numerous side trips to points of interest along the route, will be $35.50. The rate for transportation only from Boston to Milwaukee and return will be $23.85.

The Massachusetts train will leave Boston next Monday, July 13, at 1 o'clock and the usual stop will be made here for supper. The Young People's society of the Baptist church will serve the supper. The trip will include stops at Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Cleveland and Chicago. Rev. F. D. Penney is ready to give details of the trip to any who desire the information.

District Court.

The largest number of "drunks" of any batch that has occupied the prisoners dock was in this morning's array. The judge disposed of the cases as follows: William Allen of Rockland, Me., gambling, case continued until tomorrow morning.

Catherine Larabee, drunkenness, fined $2.00.

Nicholas Cuomo, riding bicycle carelessly, fined $5.

Fred Mattison and Albert Armstrong, cruelty to animals, fined $5 each.

Alfred Gelinas, larceny, case continued until 5 o'clock today, to await the arrival of the government officers. These cases of drunkenness were disposed of as follows: Charles White, $2.00; Fred Mattison, $2.00; James Hanlon, $3; Joseph Murray, $3; Albert Little, $3; Charles F. Maynard, $3; Fred Woodward, continued until Friday; Patrick Ryan, house of correction for thirty days; William Farrell, $3; John Ketchum, $3; Albert Armstrong, $2.00; Peter Cunningham, $5.

The continued case of David Joyce charged with obtaining goods under false pretences was heard this morning. Gilbert Morin bought a dog of Joyce and the purchase caused a dispute as to the legality of the sale. The matter was given to the probation officer for settlement.

Thomas Joyce left today to resume his work for the Nonstop Silk company. Michael Gorman of Holyoke is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Gunning of Centre street.

Around With the Elephant.

Circus day by far eclipsed the Fourth in interesting sights furnished and in the list of incidents. The crowded streets offered many chances for accidents, but none were reported. The police department was out in full force and did efficient service during the day, and the night as well. The special officers, ready to prove their ability, were especially active and the station house was filled nearly to overflowing at an early hour Wednesday evening. The "drunks" numbered a dozen or more, and among the victims was a woman.

Special Officer Robertson was after those persons who abused their horses and succeeded in catching two men in the act. Arthur Armstrong, intoxicated was beating his horse on Main street when arrested. John Ketchum of Hancock, who "came to see the animals," found amusement in pounding his thin horse with a heavy whip. His circus was confinement in a cell, where in a semi-intoxicated condition he raved furiously.

The usual number of balloon and squeaker vendors were along with the circus and the day was fairly ushered in with the noises belonging distinctively to the squeaker variety. The vendors, although they seemed to have business enough, complained about the penuriousness of the natives.

When the parade had gone over the Main street bridge some people began to ascertain whether they had permanently lost their pocket books during the temporary loss of their heads, caused by the glittering of the parade. One person only suffered, or at least alone made known his loss. Mrs. Louis Dalmoro found that a female pickpocket had taken her purse containing $55. The detective connected with the circus called the attention of Officer Whipple to a man whom he had seen thrusting his hands into other's pockets. Officer Whipple would not arrest the man, as he had seen nothing to cause him to believe the stranger a suspicious character.

The police put a sudden end to a game which always attracts the man from the rural districts by its seeming simplicity. The game is the widely known "shell game" and the chances of winning from it are as vague and distant as the "milkj way." William Allen of Rockland was getting his paraphernalia ready in the rear of the Richmond house. He pulled up his sleeves for a customer and Officer Jones took the first chance, and with it the man and machine.

Nicholas Cuomo was arrested for riding a bicycle in a manner dangerous to man and beast alike. Cuomo was giving an exhibition of fancy riding on State street and after he had collided with two teams and several men an officer turned the wheel toward the station house and Cuomo rode serenely in and, depositing his wheel outside, took up a position behind the bars.

A Child Lost.

Thomas Dunn, seven years old, came from Stamford, Vt., in the morning, without his parents knowing of his intentions, and in the streets soon lost his bearings. The child's father searched high and low during the afternoon and evening, but did not find the missing one. Word was left at the police station to have the child taken to 15 Mead block, Center street, if found.

THE BRIGGSVILLE GEYSER.

How Its Roly and Troublesome Contents
Will be Disposed of.

The Windsor company has decided to pipe the water from the Briggsville geyser to a point below the Windsor print works, where it will be discharged into the river. All hope of the water ever running clear has been abandoned and this is the only course open to the company, which must keep this muddy water out of the river because the water of the stream is used in the works. A large amount has already been expended in efforts to overcome the trouble, and it is estimated that the laying of the pipe will cost about $20,000. The ditch will have to be sunk in some places from eight to twelve feet in solid rock, but the work will be done in the most thorough manner under the direction of John Marbo who began the job today.

The flow of water since the outbreak had been about 400 gallons a minute and very uniform up to Wednesday, when suddenly there came an increase of eighty-seven gallons a minute. The whole thing has been most perplexing from the start. It has been a question whether the water could be successfully conducted in a pipe, owing to the great amount of sediment it contains, and which it was feared might plug up the pipe, but Professor Green of Troy was consulted and he decided that it would be safe to lay the pipe.

The spring is one of the most remarkable and unaccountable things that ever developed in this section and has caused the Windsor company a great deal of trouble and expense.

The Annual Independence Ball. Good

Dances and a Good Supper. The Joys of Cottage Life.

Whalanids Cottage, Laurel Beach, Vt.,
July 8, 1896.

EDITOR TRANSCRIPT.—We are back at Whalanids cottage again, and it really seems more delightful than ever before. We are so sorry for the people who have to stay in the city this warm weather and can't enjoy all the pleasures of a summer's outdoor life. I don't believe there is a place within fifty miles of North Adams where one can get a more complete rest of body and mind than here.

And yet it is not dull. You would not have thought so last Friday night, anyway, had you been at Jacksonville within sight of the Glen house. It was the night of the annual Fourth of July ball, and they say that it was attended by the largest company that ever was known here. From 7.30 until after 9 the same stood in two long lines waiting their turn to be taken care of, and I think the hostess had about all they could manage. There were 150 checks given out.

The arrangements were very nice in all ways. Each town represented had, as usual, a separate room for wraps. The dancing hall, which was prettily decorated with bunting, evergreens, and flags, is large and has a good floor. Music was furnished by the old stand-by, the Philharmonic orchestra of Brattleboro, and was excellent, as it always is.

When the grand march started it really seemed as though it would be next to impossible to get everyone in, but got in they did, and the difficulty of numbers in the circle which followed was easily met by making two rings around the hall instead of one. It was a genuine old-fashioned dance, such as might have been held in North Adams twenty years ago, but which is not known there now, I regret to say. I think people make a great mistake when they slight the good old contra dances like Money Musk, Hall's Victory and Chorus Jig. There is something inspiring about them, and though to the unaccustomed the constant keeping time to the music is an amusing sight, one almost involuntarily finds himself doing likewise.

As for the supper, it was splendid—when we got it; but fancy having to wait from 11 until after 2 for something to eat. Four times was the dining room filled with hungry dancers, while the waiting individuals in the hall sniffed the air with longing impatience. On the whole, the ball was a decided success and Jacksonville has good cause to feel proud of it. The dancing lasted until 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

We have not been alone here until today, as Mr. and Mrs. Edson Ashman and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cummings drove over Saturday, June 27, remaining until the 30th. Last Thursday N. Henry Arnold and his brother Frank came up with a load of goods for the new cottage which Mr. Arnold is having built. They were joined the next day by a party of young people, among whom was Miss Mary Lindsey of Orange, N. Y., who is visiting friends in North Adams. Saturday morning Harry H. Rosenberger of Williams-town rode up on his wheel, leaving there at 4 a. m. and arriving here at 8 a. m. He returned the next afternoon, being unable to stay as long as the rest of the young people. The party brought with them a plentiful supply of fireworks and celebrated with a great deal of energy. Not least among the brilliant display were two balloons, for whose successful ascension Andrew Claghorn deserves great credit. The party left this afternoon, pronouncing the trip a delightful one.

It is very quiet here now, and until the next arrival come we shall indulge our taste for natural history and study the birds, butterflies and other creatures whose beautiful colors and interesting ways are a source of never-failing pleasure. K. J. A.

Among the Green Mountains.

On Saturday, July 19, the Fitchburg railroad will run an excursion to Rutland, Vermont's most prosperous and beautiful city, with the largest and most famous marble quarry in the world, which is reached by street cars from Rutland. This excursion will pass through the Green Mountain valley, the most beautiful of Vermont scenery. Special train will leave North Adams at 7.45 a. m., arriving at Rutland at 11.45 a. m., and return will leave Rutland at 6 p. m., arriving at Troy at 8.20 p. m., and North Adams at 8.20 p. m. The special train will stop at any station on Bennington and Rutland railroad on excursionists on notice to conductor, and on return will stop to take on excursionists on notice to agent at station. The very low rate of $1.25 is made for this trip. Apply to Fitchburg railroad ticket agents for full information.

EUROPEAN TOUR.

Col. and Mrs. Bracewell to Visit England and the Continent.

Col. and Mrs. John Bracewell will sail from New York Saturday for a visit to England and the continent. It is nine years since Col. Bracewell has visited his old home in England, where he has brothers and sisters living, and he also feels the need of rest, as he was sick last spring and has been for many weeks past under extra mental strain owing to the serious trouble caused by what is now commonly spoken of as the Briggsville geyser. Col. and Mrs. Bracewell expect to be gone about six weeks, and many friends wish them a pleasant journey and a safe return.

AT ADAMS TODAY.

One Good Turn Deserves Another

Coming home after the circus parade in North Adams, Wednesday morning, a passenger of one of the electric cars—a young man, a semi-jag, thought he knew all about getting off a moving vehicle but found he was not quite steady enough to exhibit his skill as he desired. Near the power house, the young man made a jump, and landed on his feet—first, then on his nose and many other places. Finally he stopped rolling, and lay in a very awkward position. At length, there was another roll, which caused a serious-looking passenger to remark, "One Good Turn Deserves Another."

Can't Open the Safe.

The burglar, who entered the Renfrew depot Tuesday night, did considerable damage to the safe. One of the holes was drilled just over the knob of the door, which was broken off. The combination works all right but the door can not be opened because the bolts which lock the door cannot be thrown back without the key. All the tickets for North Adams were out early Wednesday morning and there are none to be had for that city. The ticket date is in the safe and when Ticket Agent Brewster sells a ticket for any point, he has to write the date on the back.

Result of a Bicycle Collision.

The many friends of Miss Euphemia Kershaw of Renfrew are shocked to learn that the fall she recently had from her bicycle, is likely to prove fatal. The accident occurred about a month ago and it was thought at the time that Miss Kershaw was not injured beyond a slight shaking up. She was about in two or three days as though nothing had happened. A few days ago she was taken with stomach trouble and it is certain that internal injuries at the time of her fall are the cause. Her physician has given up hope of her recovery.

At Zylonite.

The north bank of the Zylonite reservoir is nearly finished and work has been started upon the eastern one. The number of workmen on the job has been reduced and O. N. Buss has been placed in charge until Superintendent John J. Marsh, who is overseeing the excavation work at the Windsor print works in North Adams, returns.

The sluice on the east side of the railroad has been completely excavated and the banks are being lined on the inside with stone. It is an excellent piece of work.

Mrs. Louise Murray.

Mrs. Louise Murray, wife of Peter Murray, died at her home on Spring street this morning, aged 66 years. Mrs. Murray was born in Canada, where she resided a number of years. She and her husband had made Adams their home for the past eighteen years. She was a woman of strong character and had a large host of friends. Her death was the result of a complication of diseases from which she has suffered several years. Her funeral will occur from the church of Notre Dame at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

In Court this Morning.

Arthur Gonyea was arrested in Cheshire Wednesday by Constable Wood, for drunkenness. In court this morning he pleaded guilty to the charge and to a charge of stealing chickens from Leroy Danham of this town, some time ago. On the first charge he was fined $7 and on the latter $10. The Timetable is Wrong.

POWNA.

A Yankee Boy in the South.

The young man referred to is William the oldest son of Warren Haley. He settled in Oxford, Miss., where his Yankee energy among the slow going Southerners gave him prominence at once. He is now the manager of land owned by a syndicate comprising some three thousand acres. Besides this he is sole owner of a farm of 300 acres all in good cultivation. He has about 125 men working for him. He is married and has two children one of whom, his little girl, accompanies him. He will remain here about a month to recruit his health which had become somewhat shattered owing to overwork.

He has become a typical southerner in action and words, having lost all his Yankee phrases and picked up southern eccentricities of speech. We had a very interesting talk with him on the politics and customs of his adopted state. Will says there is only one political party, which, of course, is the Democratic, and should he vote, would be obliged to vote that way, consequently he does not vote at all. We hope he will recover his health speedily and we extend our best wishes for his continued success.

A meeting was held this afternoon in the vestry of the Baptist church. Quite a crowd attended Barnum's circus in North Adams Wednesday. They report a great show.

The Banner correspondent is clearly off his balance when he says that the '96 July 4th celebration was the first ever held here. Had he said in his lifetime he would have been more correct in his statements. About forty years ago was the last celebration.

E. S. Sloat of Paterson, N. J., who has been visiting Arthur G. Parker returned home yesterday.

Cost of Iron Bridge Repairs.

Through the courtesy of M. O. Hicks, the first selectman, we are able to give a full and correct statement of the cost of rebuilding the wood work on the iron bridge, also the amount which the town pays and that paid by the Newtons.

Total cost of paint and painting, $121.10; inspecting, $40.01, making $161.12, of which the town pays one-half. Total number of feet of lumber in whole bridge, 62,854. Of this amount the town pays for one-half of $50,014 feet, the remaining 12,840 feet the Newtons pay for wholly and also pay $8 per thousand feet for laying the same.

Cost of whole bridge, less sales of old lumber, $2,083.96; share for town, $762.78; amount paid by Newtons, $1,321.18. Add to this the cost of painting and inspecting and the total cost to the town is $343.84 and to the Newtons $1,411.74.

The Newtons had figured the cost of work rebuilding at $8 a thousand feet and the selectmen made an agreement with them at this rate. The selectmen then let the contract at $4.25 a thousand which accounts for the difference in the amount paid by each party. Hence while the Newtons were paying one-half of the six dollars a thousand the town paid the difference between three dollars and $4.25. By this arrangement the town gains $24.20, or in other words the selectmen have saved the town so much money.

Change in Management.

August 1st an important change in management will take place at the chair shop. E. J. Bullock will retire from the management and his place will be taken by G. M. Smith of Warren, O.

Mr. Bullock has had charge of the affairs of the company about six years and has made a good uphill fight. There have been times when the Readsboro Chair Manufacturing company has experienced discouraging troubles, but Mr. Bullock has devoted his whole time and energy to work keeping the concern going and today the company is firmly established and doing a good business with the largest number of hands employed in their history. Mr. Smith comes well recommended and we hope the change in management will prove beneficial.

IT TRAVELS FAST.

Good News in North Adams Travels Nearly as Fast as Bad.

Have you heard it? Heard the good news? Heard your neighbors talking about it? It means a new book or an old one. Not necessarily old in years.

But old in misery. By an old book we mean a bad back. Bad backs are numerous. Some lame, some weak or aching. Most back troubles come from the kidneys.

Don't's Kidney Pills cure them all. They reach the cause. They cure urinary troubles.

Is the cure lasting? Well, North Adams people say it is. That's pretty good proof.

Here's another case. Mr. Isaiah Warren, a North Adams man, Residence No. 14 East Brooklyn St., says: "I had dull aching pains over the kidneys."

Suffered from headaches and dizziness. Was troubled in this way for a long time. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read how they cured cases like mine. I was induced to try them.

I got a box at Burlingame & Darby's drug store. They acted promptly. The aching back and soreness left. Peaceful slumber at night returned. I have not felt better for years.

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50. For sale by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of price. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the United States.

Electric Bitters. The electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine often averts long and painful fatal biliousness. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only fifty cents per bottle at Burlingame & Darby's drug store.
